

THE PIONEER

NORTHWESTERN CONNECTICUT COMMUNITY COLLEGE

WINSTED, CONNECTICUT

Two years ago we began a journey of sorts, coming from many regions and backgrounds, bringing with us varied experiences and dreams, which we since have shared and have added to. Our intentions were to leave no stone unturned, no path unexplored in our quest for what we individually may have called happiness or knowledge or love or friendship: all labels for things that at times tend to sound trite but in the long run remain most significant.

Today, with our eyes turned toward new goals, new happenings, it seems somehow wise to stop for a moment and reconsider those people, places, events that have made these two years meaningful. We pause now to piece together some of the memories. We stand back from the parts trying to discern some pattern and discover, perhaps to our surprise, that there is a pattern. It's there! It really is there for all of us! We see a design, somewhat different for each of us, no doubt, but nonetheless a configuration obvious and real, composed of things sad, things joyful; ups, downs; problems, solutions; faces, forms, situations. Just look . . .

FACULTY

Dear Members of the Class of 1971:

You are about to join the 368 alumni who have graduated from Northwestern Connecticut Community College in the past four years.

All of us at the College are very proud of your accomplishments as students. The faculty and the entire staff have worked for your interests and will continue to make Northwestern a college in which you can take pride.

We hope that you will be successful in your future studies and in your careers. Please come back if we can help you, -- or even just to say "hello."

Sincerely,

Regina M. Duffy

Her beauty has more to do with the ability to feel than with physical feature. It comes from within, yet is much more than what she believes or why she is dedicated. It is at the same time both solid, unchanging, and constantly in motion. She possesses the beauty that comes from Life—the solid beauty that is woven through all Life, the everchanging beauty that makes every living thing unique.
